

Choose the best AI-generated sentence

In each item, you will be shown sentences generated by an AI.
Please select the most meaningful and natural-sounding sentence.

Thank you very much.

* Required

Worker ID ***

Auto-filled. Please do not edit.

Your answer

Select one: *

1 point

- ☐ When Beth was given the assignment, it seemed like an (insurmountable) task. To her surprise, though, she finished on time.
- ☐ When Beth was given the assignment, it seemed like an (inebriated) task. To her surprise, though, she finished on time.
- ☐ When Beth was given the assignment, it seemed like an (inanimate) task. To her surprise, though, she finished on time.
- ☐ When Beth was given the assignment, it seemed like an (ineligible) task. To her surprise, though, she finished on time.

Select one: *

1 point

- ☐ Did you understand yesterday's economics lecture? No, I was completely (baffled) by it. It was as though the teacher was speaking a foreign language!
- ☐ Did you understand yesterday's economics lecture? No, I was completely (whittled) by it. It was as though the teacher was speaking a foreign language!
- ☐ Did you understand yesterday's economics lecture? No, I was completely (lathered) by it. It was as though the teacher was speaking a foreign language!
- ☐ Did you understand yesterday's economics lecture? No, I was completely (tethered) by it. It was as though the teacher was speaking a foreign language!

Select one: *

1 point

- ☐ Although Trevor's disease is a serious one, he has an excellent (prognosis) for recovery because he is young and the condition was discovered early.
- ☐ Although Trevor's disease is a serious one, he has an excellent (gradation) for recovery because he is young and the condition was discovered early.
- ☐ Although Trevor's disease is a serious one, he has an excellent (coercion) for recovery because he is young and the condition was discovered early.
- ☐ Although Trevor's disease is a serious one, he has an excellent (pinnacle) for recovery because he is young and the condition was discovered early.

Select one: *

1 point

- ☐ Eastford University was once in the very top (tundra) of the nation's schools. Today, however, it is considered to be just average.
- ☐ Eastford University was once in the very top (echelon) of the nation's schools. Today, however, it is considered to be just average.
- ☐ Eastford University was once in the very top (paradigm) of the nation's schools. Today, however, it is considered to be just average.
- ☐ Eastford University was once in the very top (unison) of the nation's schools. Today, however, it is considered to be just average.

Select one: *

1 point

- ☐ The novel was fiercely criticized by reviewers, with one even saying the author was completely (effusive) of literary talent.
- ☐ The novel was fiercely criticized by reviewers, with one even saying the author was completely (devoid) of literary talent.
- ☐ The novel was fiercely criticized by reviewers, with one even saying the author was completely (pliant) of literary talent.
- ☐ The novel was fiercely criticized by reviewers, with one even saying the author was completely (audacious) of literary talent.

Select one: *

1 point

- ☐ Last week, a member of the purchasing department staff was fired for taking (shortcomings). He was receiving money for ordering parts from a supplier whose goods were of poor quality.
- ☐ Last week, a member of the purchasing department staff was fired for taking (kickbacks). He was receiving money for ordering parts from a supplier whose goods were of poor quality.
- ☐ Last week, a member of the purchasing department staff was fired for taking (backdrops). He was receiving money for ordering parts from a supplier whose goods were of poor quality.
- ☐ Last week, a member of the purchasing department staff was fired for taking (loopholes). He was receiving money for ordering parts from a supplier whose goods were of poor quality.

Select one: *

1 point

- ☐ Margaret tried to (fling) her cat down from the tree with a bowl of milk, but it refused to move.
- ☐ Margaret tried to (glide) her cat down from the tree with a bowl of milk, but it refused to move.
- ☐ Margaret tried to (smear) her cat down from the tree with a bowl of milk, but it refused to move.
- ☐ Margaret tried to (coax) her cat down from the tree with a bowl of milk, but it refused to move.

Select one: *

1 point

- ☐ The salesman (abridged3) the virtues of the sports car at length, but the customer was not convinced it was worth its high price.
- ☐ The salesman (extolled) the virtues of the sports car at length, but the customer was not convinced it was worth its high price.
- ☐ The salesman (inscribed) the virtues of the sports car at length, but the customer was not convinced it was worth its high price.
- ☐ The salesman (enthralled) the virtues of the sports car at length, but the customer was not convinced it was worth its high price.

Select one: *

1 point

- ☐ To avoid confusing customers by suddenly putting a completely new version of its software on the market, the company introduced (incremental) changes over a two-year period.
- ☐ To avoid confusing customers by suddenly putting a completely new version of its software on the market, the company introduced (opulent) changes over a twoyear period.
- ☐ To avoid confusing customers by suddenly putting a completely new version of its software on the market, the company introduced (parenthetical) changes over a two-year period.
- ☐ To avoid confusing customers by suddenly putting a completely new version of its software on the market, the company introduced (buoyant) changes over a twoyear period.

Select one: *

1 point

- ☐ Amanda tried to get the project's due date changed, but her supervisor refused to (pervade). "The deadline must be met," he said.
- ☐ Amanda tried to get the project's due date changed, but her supervisor refused to (budge). "The deadline must be met," he said.
- ☐ Amanda tried to get the project's due date changed, but her supervisor refused to (emulate). "The deadline must be met," he said.
- ☐ Amanda tried to get the project's due date changed, but her supervisor refused to (leer). "The deadline must be met," he said.

Select one: *

1 point

- ☐ Despite being accused of serious crimes, the defendant looked on (ruefully) throughout her trial. Many people were disturbed by her lack of emotion.
- ☐ Despite being accused of serious crimes, the defendant looked on (impassively) throughout her trial. Many people were disturbed by her lack of emotion.
- ☐ Despite being accused of serious crimes, the defendant looked on (nominally) throughout her trial. Many people were disturbed by her lack of emotion.
- ☐ Despite being accused of serious crimes, the defendant looked on (exquisitely) throughout her trial. Many people were disturbed by her lack of emotion.

Select one: *

1 point

- ☐ After his vacation, the man wrote to the travel agency with a (litany) of complaints about everything from the rude hotel staff to the poor meals.
- ☐ After his vacation, the man wrote to the travel agency with a (melancholy) of complaints about everything from the rude hotel staff to the poor meals.
- ☐ After his vacation, the man wrote to the travel agency with a (remittance) of complaints about everything from the rude hotel staff to the poor meals.
- ☐ Despite being accused of serious crimes, the defendant looked on (ruefully) throughout her trial. Many people were disturbed by her lack of emotion.

Select one: *

1 point

- ☐ When he lost his job, Dylan became (cumbersome). After a couple of weeks, though, he began to feel more positive and decided to start looking for work.
- ☐ When he lost his job, Dylan became (despondent). After a couple of weeks, though, he began to feel more positive and decided to start looking for work.
- ☐ When he lost his job, Dylan became (poised). After a couple of weeks, though, he began to feel more positive and decided to start looking for work.
- ☐ When he lost his job, Dylan became (magnanimous). After a couple of weeks, though, he began to feel more positive and decided to start looking for work.

Select one: *

1 point

- ☐ When the bus driver suddenly braked hard, all the passengers (lurched) forward. Luckily, no one was seriously injured.
- ☐ When the bus driver suddenly braked hard, all the passengers (bellowed) forward. Luckily, no one was seriously injured.
- ☐ When the bus driver suddenly braked hard, all the passengers (rebuked) forward. Luckily, no one was seriously injured.
- ☐ When the bus driver suddenly braked hard, all the passengers (ambushed) forward. Luckily, no one was seriously injured.

Select one: *

1 point

- ☐ The dentist waited until the (remuneration) took effect before beginning the work. He did not want the patient to feel any pain.
- ☐ The dentist waited until the (tycoon) took effect before beginning the work. He did not want the patient to feel any pain.
- ☐ The dentist waited until the (anesthetic) took effect before beginning the work. He did not want the patient to feel any pain.
- ☐ The dentist waited until the (scourge) took effect before beginning the work. He did not want the patient to feel any pain.

Submit

Never submit passwords through Google Forms.

This content is neither created nor endorsed by Google. Report Abuse - Terms of Service - Privacy Policy

Google Forms

